Arte Laguna Prize: A Look at Its History

Founded in 2006 by the Cultural Association MoCA, the Arte Laguna Prize focuses on visual arts, including painting, sculpture, photography, video art, performance, virtual art, and digital art. It provides emerging and established artists with opportunities for visibility. A jury of prominent figures in contemporary art ensures credibility and professional evaluation.

The prize fosters inclusivity and collaboration, creating opportunities for artists worldwide. It has established a network of foundations, museums, galleries, artist residencies, and leading brands, offering concrete platforms for professional growth and recognition.

The competition spans multiple categories, including:

Painting
Sculpture and installation
Photography
Video art and performance
Digital art
Environmental and land art
Urban and street art
Design

Over the years, the prize has provided thousands of artists with opportunities to present their work on an international stage. It also fosters connections with curators, galleries, and collectors.
