The Arte Laguna Prize, an international contemporary art competition based in Venice, has extended its 21st-edition deadline to July 15, 2026, with 120 finalists exhibiting at the Arsenale Nord.

Arte Laguna Prize

The Arte Laguna Prize is an international contemporary art competition based in Venice that welcomes and exhibits emerging artists of any age, nationality, gender, and artistic background. Now in its 21st edition, the competition has extended its application deadline to July 15, 2026.

A jury of leading figures in the contemporary art world selects 120 finalist artists, who exhibit their works in the 3,000-square-meter Arsenale Nord in Venice. The winner of the first prize receives 10,000 euros.

What the Prize Offers

- Exhibition for 120 finalists at the Arsenale Nord in Venice
- First prize of 10,000 euros
- Numerous Special Prizes created in collaboration with international partners (residencies, festivals, galleries, and more)
- Opportunities to expand a professional network and gain global visibility

Participation is open to any artistic discipline. Applicants can also apply for the competition's Special Prizes.
